Making Memories Last – Legacy Work Seminar

SEMINAR

July 22, 2021

Legacy work activities help people feel connected to one another, even when they are physically apart, and can bring comfort to those dealing with chronic illness, long hospitalizations, or end-of-life.

Through legacy work, memories are shared, creating something meaningful for the people you love and care about. Join us to explore more about the value of legacy work, who should do it, and when. Participants will also gain practical ideas and activities for completing legacy work.
